In addition, the data subject has the right, on grounds relating to his or her particular situation, to object to processing of personal data concerning him or her by BMCP GmbH for scientific or historical research purposes, or for statistical purposes pursuant to Article 89(1) of the GDPR, unless the processing is necessary for the performance of a task carried out for reasons of public interest.

h) Automated individual decision-making, including profiling

Each data subject shall have the right granted by the European legislator not to be subject to a decision based solely on automated processing, including profiling, which produces legal effects concerning him or her, or similarly significantly affects him or her, as long as the decision (1) is not necessary for entering into, or the performance of, a contract between the data subject and a data controller, or (2) is not authorised by Union or Member State law to which the controller is subject and which also lays down suitable measures to safeguard the data subject's rights and freedoms and legitimate interests, or (3) is not based on the data subject's explicit consent.

If the decision (1) is necessary for entering into, or the performance of, a contract between the data subject and a data controller, or (2) it is based on the data subject's explicit consent, BMCP GmbH shall implement suitable measures to safeguard the data subject's rights and freedoms and legitimate interests, at least the right to obtain human intervention on the part of the controller, to express his or her point of view and contest the decision.

If the data subject wishes to exercise the right to withdraw the consent, he or she may, at any time, contact any employee of BMCP GmbH.

8. Legal basis for the processing

Art. 6(1) lit. a GDPR serves as the legal basis for processing operations for which we obtain consent for a specific processing purpose. If the processing of personal data is necessary for the performance of a contract to which the data subject is party, as is the case, for example, when processing operations are necessary for the supply of goods or to provide any other service, the processing is based on Article 6(1) lit. b GDPR. The same applies to such processing operations which are necessary for carrying out pre-contractual measures, for example in the case of inquiries concerning our products or services. Is our company subject to a legal obligation by which processing of personal data is required, such as for the fulfillment of tax obligations, the processing is based on Art. 6(1) lit. c GDPR. In rare cases, the processing of personal data may be necessary to protect the vital interests of the data subject or of another natural person. This would be the case, for example, if a visitor were injured in our company and his name, age, health insurance data or other vital information would have to be passed on to a doctor, hospital or other third party. Then the processing would be based on Art. 6(1) lit. d GDPR. Finally, processing operations could be based on Article 6(1) lit. f GDPR. This legal basis is used for processing operations which are not covered by any of the abovementioned legal grounds, if processing is necessary for the purposes of the legitimate interests pursued by our company or by a third party, except where such interests are overridden by the interests or fundamental rights and freedoms of the data subject which require protection of personal data. Such processing operations are particularly permissible because they have been specifically mentioned by the European legislator. He considered that a legitimate interest could be assumed if the data subject is a client of the controller (Recital 47 Sentence 2 GDPR).

9. The legitimate interests pursued by the controller or by a third party

Where the processing of personal data is based on Article 6(1) lit. f GDPR our legitimate interest is to carry out our business in favor of the well-being of all our employees and the shareholders.

10. Period for which the personal data will be stored

The criteria used to determine the period of storage of personal data is the respective statutory retention period. After expiration of that period, the corresponding data is routinely deleted, as long as it is no longer necessary for the fulfillment of the contract or the initiation of a contract.

11. Provision of personal data as statutory or contractual requirement; Requirement necessary to enter into a contract; Obligation of the data subject to provide the personal data; possible consequences of failure to provide such data

We clarify that the provision of personal data is partly required by law (e.g. tax regulations) or can also result from contractual provisions (e.g. information on the contractual partner). Sometimes it may be necessary to conclude a contract that the data subject provides us with personal data, which must subsequently be processed by us. The data subject is, for example, obliged to provide us with personal data when our company signs a contract with him or her. The non-provision of the personal data would have the consequence that the contract with the data subject could not be concluded. Before personal data is provided by the data subject, the data subject must contact any employee. The employee clarifies to the data subject whether the provision of the personal data is required by law or contract or is necessary for the conclusion of the contract, whether there is an obligation to provide the personal data and the consequences of non-provision of the personal data.

12. Existence of automated decision-making

As a responsible company, we do not use automatic decision-making or profiling.

13. Data transfer and use of third parties

We will not pass on your personal data collected on the basis of your use of the website to third parties, unless it is necessary for the fulfillment of our obligations or mandatory by law.

However, your personal data is also processed on our behalf by our service providers (processors). These processors are in particular marketing tool providers, IT service providers, providers of other tools and software solutions, IT maintenance services and other providers of similar services. All of our order processors process your data only on our behalf and on the basis of our instructions for our purposes outlined above.

a) Data transfer

A transfer of your personal data to other companies will only take place if:

- you have expressly given your consent to this in accordance with Art. 6 Para. 1 lit. a DSGVO or Art.49 Para. 1 lit. a
- the transfer according to Art. 6 Abs. 1 lit. f DSGVO for advertising or marketing purposes according to a publishing and direct marketing company (§151 GewO) is in our legitimate interest and there is no reason to believe that you have a superceding interest worthy of protection in the non-disclosure of your data. You have the possibility to object to our interest at any time and thus prevent the use of your data for direct marketing for the future.

- in the event that there is a legal obligation for the disclosure in accordance with Art. 6 Para. 1 lit. c DSGVO
- the recipients are service providers who have a contract processing relationship with the controller under a contract pursuant to Art. 28 DSGVO.

b) Data protection provisions on the use and application of. HubSpot

We store and use contact data and information received (such as business communication histories) from customers and interested parties for the purpose of processing or initiating the business relationship.

Personal data that you have communicated to us through a contact request (via website, email, telephone, fax or in person), a newsletter registration or direct business relations are processed and maintained by us with the help of a customer relationship management system (CRM system for short). We use applications from HubSpot as our customer database. Provider and order processor according to Art 28 DSGVO is HubSpot Germany GmbH, Am Postbahnhof 17, 10243 Berlin (VAT: DE312070441). The data is stored on HubSpot's servers in the EU. Personal data processed within HubSpot are: Newsletters you have subscribed to, contact details, projects for which you have shown interest. You have the right to access the data stored about you in the customer database at any time and you can request that the data be changed or deleted.

HubSpot is necessary for the proper operation of the website and funding. The legal basis results from your consent according to Art 6 para 1 lit a or Art 6 para 1 lit b. if a contract is concluded.

c) Data protection provisions regarding the use of a newsletter via HubSpot.

We send newsletters, emails and other electronic notifications with promotional information (hereinafter "newsletter") only with the consent of the recipients or a legal permission. Double opt-in and Storage. Registration for our newsletters take place in a so-called double opt-in process. This means that after registration you will receive an e-mail in which you are asked to confirm your registration. This confirmation is necessary so that no one can register with other e-mail addresses. The registrations for the newsletter are stored in order to be able to prove the registration process according to the legal requirements. This includes the storage of the registration and confirmation time, as well as the IP address. Changes to your data stored by HubSpot are also logged.

Use of the service provider "HubSpot" The newsletter is sent using "HubSpot Campaigns", a service for newsletter dispatch from the provider HubSpot Germany GmbH, Am Postbahnhof 17, 10243 Berlin (VAT: DE312070441). The e-mail addresses of our newsletter recipients, as well as their other data described in the context of this notice, are stored on the servers of HubSpot in the Netherlands. HubSpot uses this information to send and evaluate the newsletters on our behalf. Furthermore, according to its own information, HubSpot may use this data to optimize or improve its own services, e.g. to technically optimize the dispatch and display of the newsletters or for economic purposes to determine from which countries the recipients come. However, HubSpot does not use the data of our newsletter recipients to address them itself or to pass them on to third parties.

Furthermore, we have concluded a "Data Processing Agreement" with HubSpot. This is a contract in which HubSpot undertakes to protect the data of our users, to process it on our behalf in accordance with its data protection provisions and, in particular, not to pass it on to third parties. You can view HubSpot's privacy policy here. <https://www.hubspot.com/data-privacy/gdpr>

Statistical collection and analyses: The newsletters contain a so-called "web beacon", i.e. a pixel-sized file that is retrieved from HubSpot's server when the newsletter is opened. Within the scope of this retrieval, technical information, such as information about the browser and your system, as well as your IP address and the time of the retrieval are initially collected. This information is used for the technical improvement of the services based on the technical data or the target groups and their reading behavior based on their retrieval locations (which can be determined with the help of the IP address) or the access times. The statistical surveys also include the determination of whether the newsletters are opened, when they are opened, and which links are clicked. For technical reasons, this information can be assigned to individual newsletter recipients. However, it is neither our intention nor that of HubSpot to observe individual users. The evaluations serve us much more to recognize the reading habits of our users and to adapt our content to them or to send different content according to the interests of our users. Online call and data management

There are cases where we direct newsletter recipients to HubSpot's websites. For example, our newsletters contain a link that newsletter recipients can use to access the newsletters online (e.g., in case of display problems in the email program). Furthermore, newsletter recipients can subsequently correct their data, such as the e-mail address. In this context, we point out that cookies are used on HubSpot's websites and that personal data is processed by HubSpot, its partners and service providers (e.g. Google Analytics). We have no influence on this data collection. For more information, please refer to HubSpot's privacy policy. We would also like to draw your attention to the options for objecting to the collection of data for advertising purposes on the websites <http://www.aboutads.info/choices/> and <http://www.youronlinechoices.com/> (for the European region).

Cancellation/revocation: You can cancel the receipt of our newsletter at any time, i.e. revoke your consents. This will simultaneously terminate your consents to its dispatch via HubSpot and the statistical analyses. Unfortunately, a separate revocation of the dispatch via HubSpot or the statistical analysis is not possible. You will find a link to cancel the newsletter at the end of each newsletter.

Within the scope of this technical procedure, Instagram receives knowledge about which specific subpage of our website is visited by the data subject.

If the data subject is logged into Instagram at the same time, Instagram recognizes which specific sub-page the data subject is visiting with each call to our website by the data subject and for the entire duration of the respective stay on our website. The responsible party has integrated components of Twitter on this website. Twitter is a multilingual publicly accessible microblogging service on which users can publish and distribute so-called tweets, i.e. short messages that are limited to 280 characters. These short messages can be accessed by anyone, including people who are not registered with Twitter. However, the tweets are also displayed to the so-called followers of the respective user. If the data subject is logged into Twitter at the same time, Twitter recognizes which specific subpage of our website the data subject is visiting each time the data subject uses our website and for the entire duration of the respective stay on our website. This information is collected by the Twitter component and assigned by Twitter to the respective Twitter account of the data subject. If the data subject activates one of the Twitter buttons integrated on our website, the data and information thus transmitted will be assigned to the personal Twitter user account of the data subject and stored and processed by Twitter.

By setting the cookie, Google is enabled to analyze the use of our website. By each call of one of the individual pages of this website, which is operated by the responsible person and on which a Google Analytics component has been integrated, the internet browser on the information technology system of the data subject is automatically caused by the respective Google Analytics component to transmit data to Google for the purpose of online analysis. As part of this technical process, Google obtains knowledge of personal data, such as the IP address of the data subject, which Google uses, among other things, to track the origin of visitors and clicks and subsequently enable commission calculations.

Through the use of the cookie, personal information, such as the access time, the location from which an access originated and the frequency of visits to our website by the data subject, is stored.
